SICKENING PRICE OF POVERTY

LUCY YOUNG

By Lucy Purdy

TOTTENHAM Green has been singled out in a cabinet report with a stark warning that deprivation and ill health go hand in hand.

Men living in the ward can expect to live up to 17 fewer years than those in the most affluent areas of London – and shockingly the same as in Albania or Oman – according to the author of last week's government-commissioned Fair Society, Healthy Lives report.

The area was pinpointed as being in dire need in the same week as health chiefs defended their plans for a major rejig of hospitals across north London, with redressing health inequalities at the top of their controversial agenda.

"The healthiest people in England now enjoy remarkably good health. For example, in the wealthiest part of London, one ward in Kensington and Chelsea, a man now has a life expectancy of 88 years," writes Professor Sir Michael Marmot.

"But the contrast is stark. A few kilometres away in Tottenham Green, one of the capital's poorer wards, male life expectancy is 71. Similar differences are found all over the country."

With fast-food outlets on virtually every street corner and unemployment higher than the national average, Tottenham Green is not unlike many other suburbs up and down the UK. But it is residents in deprived areas such as this who are more likely to smoke, drink excessively, have poor diets and do little physical exercise – and therefore develop diseases which dramatically shorten their lives.

With no major hospitals within Haringey's borders and plans on the table to close the accident and emergency department at the nearby Whittington Hospital, in Highgate Hill, fears have been raised that Haringey residents will be placed at an even greater disadvantage.

The A&E will be downgraded under four out of seven options as part of a cost-cutting shake-up, first revealed by a leak to the press last year.

The Whittington's 50-bed maternity unit is also at risk under all seven options although maternity services at North Middlesex University Hospital in Edmonton, the next nearest

'We're not pretending money is not an issue' says health cut boss

In favour:
Stephen

destination for Haringey's mums-to-be, now look set to stay under the North Central London Sector Review, which will change services in Haringey, Enfield, Barnet, Islington and Camden.

There is also likely to be a merger between The Whittington and the Royal Free hospital in Hampstead although it is not yet clear exactly what this will entail.

The plans, which include providing more health services from polyclinics, - large GP-led centres such as the new Hornsey Neighbourhood Health Centre, in Park Road - have mobilised concerned residents, campaigners and politicians from across the region to organise a mass demonstration on February 27 against the downgrading of The Whittington's A&E.

Speaking to The Advertiser on Friday, one of those charged with ushering in the reforms, NCL programme director Stephen Conroy, insisted that no change was not an option. He said: "There are enormous health inequalities across London. If you are black, working class and live in an area where the schools aren't very good, you have a harder life.

'We've fallen
of the country.'

In London we have under-developed general practice and over-developed hospitals. We've fallen behind the rest of the country and we need to catch up.

"The hospitals we have are there for historical reasons, because there was a workhouse there before or whatever, not because we have designed them around clinical strategy.

"Now we are trying to design the best healthcare around the existing infrastructure. Why should you get better care because of how close you live to a world-class hospital?"

Though Mr Conroy refused to be drawn on details of the seven options, insisting the plans were at very early stages, he did admit the changes were a result of financial pressure too.

"I'd be being disingenuous if I said this was not about money - we're not pretending money is not an issue," he said. "NHS medical directors start by saying: 'what's best practice'?"

Mr Conroy did say there would be just one acute hospital in the north of the region, but refused to say whether it would be North Mid or Barnet. He admitted this was a deviation from the Barnet, Enfield and Haringey Clinical Strategy which was signed off in 2008.

Peter Barnes, medical director of NHS Enfield and a GP with 36 years' experience, also spoke at the press briefing in support of the polyclinic system. He said: "I worked in a big practice with seven partners, and we were able to share our expertise. That saved a lot of time rather than working in isolation. And these buildings are already there.

"But we need to start thinking about the NHS as a knowledge-based system rather than a real-estate business. People feel safe walking into a hospital, and understandably so, but many services can be provided elsewhere. We even foresee a time when patients could receive chemotherapy in a polyclinic."

But their arguments did not convince Health Emergency's information director John Lister, who said there is no proof the proposals would help people in the most deprived areas such as Tottenham.

He said: "Nowhere's safe from these reckless proposals. This is a problem that will gnaw away at the support of whichever party wins the election, with a succession of high-profile, possibly chaotic NHS changes and cutbacks, tearing the heart out of existing hospitals, and axing thousands of healthcare workers' jobs. Changes on this scale have never been imposed on any health system in the world. They threaten to leave the capital short of hospitals and healthcare."

'We're talking about a government record for life. Once you are on that database, there's no way off it – even after your death'

By Lucy Purdy

Young people can now apply for identity cards, but critics are warning that the scheme has dubious Big Brother-style implications

YOUNG people in London can now apply for a National Identity Card – but critics have warned them not to become “guinea pigs” for what they see as an insidious threat to privacy and liberty.

The £30 cards, which have been billed as a simple and “extremely secure” form of personal identification, are now available to Londoners aged 16-24 following the latest roll-out of the controversial scheme.

After having their fingerprints scanned, young people can use the cards as proof of age when buying restricted products such as alcohol, computer games and DVDs, when trying to get into pubs and clubs and in place of a passport for travelling throughout Europe.

But the scheme has been slammed by civil liberty group NO2ID as a cynical attempt to dupe young people into complying with a database state.

Phil Booth, NO2ID national co-ordinator, said: “We’re encouraging people not to be sucked in and to read the small print – because these are not just cards. We’re talking about a government record for life. Once you’re on that database, there’s no way off it – even after your death.”

“There are already a number of proof-of-age cards which cost about a tenner so they’re just trying to dupe young people into getting these cards.”

target our young people with these disingenuous messages.”

Mr Booth also ridiculed the government’s claim that carrying an ID card is safer than having a passport.

“If you lose it, it’s not just losing £30,” he explained, “it’s losing your personal information; your full name, your date of birth and your place of birth. These are enough for someone to get hold of your birth certificate and start an identity takeover.”

He also said loopholes written in to the Identity Cards Act 2006 mean information submitted when applying for a card could be “trafficked on” to other agencies such as the police, Department of Work and Pensions and Revenue And Customs.

Signing up at the age of 16 could also mean a report being logged every time your identity is checked for any reason for the rest of your life. For example, when you register with a doctor or open a bank account.

This amounts to a Big Brother-style surveillance of a person’s private and personal and commercial life, according to Mr Booth, who added that cardholders could also incur charges when their card is lost or not renewed in time.

Maria Cooke, 19, from Tottenham said she would not be applying for a card. “I’ve already got a passport to travel with and a driving licence which I use if I’m asked for ID, so I don’t really see the point of getting another card, especially if it costs £30,” she explained.

“I didn’t know much about the background of these national identity cards but I don’t really like the sound of the government knowing everything about where you are and what you’re up to.”

“There are enough CCTV cameras everywhere already. I don’t think any of my friends have applied for one. I definitely won’t be getting a card.”

But the Home Office minister responsible for rolling out the scheme, Meg Hillier, argued there was public enthusiasm for the scheme.

“We are issuing hundreds of application packs each day to members of the public keen to get a card,” she said.

Almost 3,000 cards have already been rolled out to people in Greater Manchester and in the North West. The cards should be available nationwide by 2012 but are not expected to be compulsory at that time.

Hacked to death: PC Keith Blakelock

Police arrest 40-year-old in connection with murder of officer during Broadwater Farm riots in 1985

A MAN has been arrested on suspicion of murdering police constable Keith Blakelock during the infamous Broadwater Farm Estate riots in Tottenham, 25 years ago.

A 40-year-old man, originally from Tottenham, was questioned by detectives from the Metropolitan Police’s Homicide and Serious Crime Command at Bury St Edmunds police station on February 5.

He would have been a 15-year-old schoolboy when rioters engulfed the estate on October 6, 1985. The suspect will return for further questioning in May.

This year will be the 25th anniversary of the night when father-of-three PC Blakelock was hacked to death by a machete-wielding mob after up to 500 youths rampaged through the estate, lighting fires, looting and attacking police and firefighters with baseball bats and bottles. PC Blakelock and his colleague PC Coombes were attacked by youths wearing balaclavas as they tried to protect firefighters.

The violence was sparked by the death of 49-year-old Cynthia Jarrett who collapsed during a police raid on her home. Winston Silcott, Mark Braithwaite and Engin Raghip were wrongly convicted of PC Blakelock’s murder and cleared on appeal in 1991.

Detectives have repeatedly said people in the area have information about the identity of the killers which they have not shared with police.

In a statement released last week, a Met Police spokesman has urged anyone with any information to come forward.

He said: “We would like to reassure anyone with information regarding those involved in the murder of PC Keith Blakelock or the attempted murder of PC Richard Coombes, who was also attacked that night, that they can contact us in confidence.”

Scotland Yard opened a new investigation into the murder in 2003, digging up the garden of a house in Tottenham when police said that they had recovered an item of significance. In 2005, police released images of PC Blakelock’s blood-stained overalls, with tape marks outlining the number of wounds inflicted upon him.

Anyone with information can contact the incident room in confidence on 020 8733 4613.

Ring men: PCs Kenny Marsh and Gerry Willmott at the club headquarters in High Road, Tottenham

Officers honoured for boxing club that leads youths away from gangs

A PAIR of policemen who set up a boxing club in the heart of Tottenham to coax disaffected kids from a life of crime and gang affiliation received MBEs from the Queen last week.

Haringey police officers Ken Marsh and Gerry Willmott said they were "overwhelmed" by the experience after attending Buckingham Palace last Friday to receive their awards. They established the flourishing Haringey Police Community Boxing Club in 1999 and were named alongside politicians, fashion designers and leaders of industry in the 2010 New Year's Honours list after transforming the club from humble beginnings to a much-treasured hub.

Speaking on Friday, PC Marsh said: "I had a wonderful day and am a bit overwhelmed by it. I'm just an ordinary person and to stand in front of the Queen and have her speak to you and acknowledge what you've done is just incredible."

PC Willmott said: "It was a fantastic day. I feel really pleased and proud. It was very exciting to be in front of the Queen and hear her acknowledge that a scheme I thought up has been working and turning people's lives around."

The club was one of the first police community boxing clubs in the country and has become one of the most successful. In its very first year, two members won titles in the novice championships. In 2008, the pair organised the biggest ever open boxing tournament held in the UK. The event at Alexandra Palace attracted nearly 300 boxers from around the world.

Chavez Campbell, 17, has been with the club for three years. He said: "I was kicked out of school for fighting and keeping bad company when I was 12. I started getting into more trouble and got arrested for fighting. I got referred to the boxing club and that's when all the bad stuff stopped. I had to come here daily, which meant I

Baby P's torturer is attacked in prison

Attacked: Steven Barker

BABY Peter's stepfather underwent hospital treatment after being scalded with boiling water by a fellow prisoner.

Steven Barker, 33, who is serving a life sentence at Wakefield Prison for his part in the toddler's death, suffered excruciating burns to his face and arms after a fellow inmate threw water over him on Wednesday. He was treated in the prison's hospital after staff intervened and police were told of the attack.

A Prison Service spokeswoman said: "A prisoner at HMP Wakefield was assaulted by another at 6.45pm on Wednesday, February 10. Staff intervened quickly and the prisoner received treatment."

Barker was found guilty of causing or allowing the death of 17-month-old Peter Connelly along with his mother Tracey Connelly, 28, and Barker's brother Jason Owen, 37. Barker was also found guilty of raping a two-year-old girl in a separate trial. Baby Peter suffered 50 injuries including a broken back and eight fractured ribs before his body was discovered at his home in Penthurst Road, Tottenham.

New witness appeal in investigation

POLICE are trying to trace customers of a café in Tottenham outside which Damion Blair was murdered a year ago.

Detectives investigating the death of the 26-year-old on February 13 last year have renewed their appeals for information on the first anniversary of the shooting.

Mr Blair, of Park Avenue, Wood Green, had visited the Too Sweet Caribbean café in Tottenham High Road before becoming involved in a heated argument outside the restaurant with another man. At about 1.15am, the suspect then shot Mr Blair four times in front of his girlfriend.

Detective Inspector Mark Gower this week urged "vital" witnesses to come forward.

He said: "We believe there were about 30 customers at the café when the shooting occurred. They left the scene before police arrived and we urgently need to trace anyone who has not been spoken to by police.

"We understand how difficult it may be for them to come forward, but we would Missing link: Could you be the vital witness that police need to speak to?

ask them to search their consciences and, for the sake of Mr Blair's family, support this investigation."

DI Gower said there was one witness in particular he would like to come forward and released the CCTV image above of a man.

"If you recognise yourself or have any information, please call," he said.

A 35-year-old man appeared at the Old Bailey on February 1 charged with murder. The case has been discontinued.

Anyone who can help should contact the incident room in the strictest confidence on 020 8733 4704 or, if you wish to remain anonymous, call Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Land grab: Kate Allardyce (right) and Rebecca Stewart are part of a team who will create a garden/orchard in the open space behind Hornsey Health Centre

Patients at health centre will enjoy a wildlife haven

AN IDYLLIC garden is being planned for a patch of disused land in Hornsey where an orchard and meadow could provide a sanctuary for patients.

The land, behind the new Hornsey Neighbourhood Health Centre in Park Road, has been turned over to community groups to create a garden, orchard and wildlife meadow which will also form a therapeutic retreat for patients.

A pond, beehives and space to grow food will all be created on the plot, which hosted a community day on Saturday for neighbours to visit and learn more about the project.

The spot has the potential to be one of Haringey's wildlife gems, according to organiser Kate Allardyce, who lives near Crouch End.

"The land is already home to foxes and many different types of birds, as well as lots of trees and flowers," she explained. "We are encouraging people to get involved because this will be a great opportunity for them to learn about sustainable garden design and explore permaculture methods.

"We hope the site will become a space to learn about food-growing as well as a therapeutic and tranquil setting to promote wellbeing. It is also a great way to meet like-minded people and have a lot of fun!"

The 1.5-acre site, which is owned by NHS Haringey, is part of the Shepherd's Cot Metropolitan Open Land – which means it cannot be developed and is protected. The group has been awarded £33,700 from Haringey Council's Greenest Borough Innovation Fund to pay for pathways and a hut on the site.

Councillor John Bevan, cabinet member for housing, environment and conservation, said: "I really want to encourage people to get involved in this project. It will remind us all of the wealth of the natural resources we have in our borough."

The health centre, one of Haringey's first polyclinics, was opened last September by the architect of the polyclinic model, Lord Ara Darzi.

Young musicians soak up southern culture

By Lucy Purdy

BUDDING musicians from Haringey travelled to the home of Elvis Presley and Johnny Cash this week on a trip of a lifetime to Memphis, Tennessee.

The 85 young people, who play a variety of styles including Turkish folk music, African drumming, jazz, classical guitar and steel drums, will work alongside American performers to get a feel for the city's culture and history. The Haringey Young Musicians trip coincides with Black History Month in the United States, so the group will also visit the National Museum of Civil Rights.

The young people, aged between ten and 19, will share their experiences and music at a series of homecoming concerts in March.

Speaking before he jetted out to the US last Friday, 17-year-old Dan Holloway, lead trumpet player in the Haringey Young Musicians Stage Band, said: "I really can't wait - I've been looking forward to going for a while now and the moment has finally arrived. It's such a historic city and I'm itching to get immersed in the music and culture."

Saxophonist Joshua Eldridge added: "I think this trip will be extremely fun because we get to mix with other musicians and show off our talent to the Memphians."

Haringey hosted a similar visit by the Girls And Boys Choir Of Memphis last March. The American visitors performed at schools across the borough, culminating in a performance at Alexandra Palace.

Councillor Lorna Reith, cabinet member for children and young people at Haringey Council, said: "I am sure it will be an educational experience, developing these young people as musicians, but also as individuals."

Funding for the trip was raised by the youngsters' families as well as several donations and grants - not the council.

Haringey Sixth Form Centre 'We Take Work and Fun Seriously'

If you are looking for a Sixth Form Centre where students work hard and play hard, then look no further than Haringey Sixth Form Centre. The Centre is now recruiting students for entry in September 2010 and is holding an Open Evening on February 25th, when all are welcome to attend, especially parents and carers.

Haringey Sixth Form Centre is now celebrating its 3rd year after its successful opening in September 2007.

When the idea of creating a Sixth Form Centre first emerged, what was wanted was a learning environment which would capture the imagination of young people. The Sixth Form Centre was always intended to be a beacon for young people in the area. Through its impressive facilities, curriculum and teaching, the Centre is achieving just that. Its first set of A level and vocational results in August 2009 showed that it has lived up to its Ofsted report which highlighted the Centre's many outstanding features.

Principal June Jarrett is very proud of the range of opportunities the Centre offers. "Studying is not all about work and academic achievement," she told the Advertiser. "We offer so many opportunities for students to get involved in extra-curricular activities, which enhance their overall performance and achievement. Already this year 243 students have applied to go to university and their applications will be strengthened by the skills they have learned outside the classroom."

The Centre plays host to many varied events. In the past few months students have participated in a conference where they learned about the experiences of ex-prisoners; they took part in an inspirational seminar by motivational speaker Action Jackson; and the Centre hosted the North London Heat Final for Future Chef 2010, a nationwide cooking competition.

One of the most colourful events of the year was the Diversity Day, where students from all faculties took part in a celebration of the diversity of cultures and backgrounds represented by the Centre's students and staff. Away from Haringey, students have had the opportunity to visit France and The Royal College of Surgeons, while BTEC National Diploma Media student Sean Safo-Antwi got to meet the Prime Minister after being nominated for the Spirit of London Award.

The Centre also offers a wide range of sporting activities with teams in a number of local leagues for football and basketball, while on campus the Centre boasts exceptional gym and fitness facilities. The Centre has the capacity to become a genuine community resource especially with its learning resources area, impressive theatre and restaurant all available to community groups.

With its broader curriculum and work based learning as a key part of its strategy to further increase the level of participation of young people in the borough, the Centre is about giving students real choice - offering a wide range of A Level courses, as well as vocational subjects such as theatre, sports studies and catering.

For more information about Haringey Sixth Form Centre, visit their website at www.haringey6.ac.uk. The next Open Evening is on Thursday 25th February 2010 from 5pm to 8pm at Haringey Sixth Form Centre, White Hart Lane, Tottenham N17 8HR. Call 020 8376 6000 for further details.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973; and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
2. Classified Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
3. To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', 'TT' etc. in the advertisement.
4. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
  - (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
  - (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
  - (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
5. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
6. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
7. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
8. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
9. All gross advertising rates (except classified listings and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
10. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
11. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
12. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
13. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
14. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
15. (1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
- (2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
16. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
17. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
18. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
19. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
20. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.
21. Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies. Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.
22. Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.
23. Data Protection
The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.
24. Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.
25. Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

The Lovely Bones (12A)

Dir: Peter Jackson
Starring: Saoirse Ronan, Stanley Tucci, Mark Wahlberg

SWAPPING hobbits for poppets, Peter Jackson returns to the smaller-scale fantastical world which worked so well in 1994's Heavenly Creatures.

Unfortunately, he has brought with him all the big-budget bombast of Hollywood to drown this adaptation of Alice Sebold's best-selling book in great gobs of sticky emotion.

I haven't read the 2002 hit novel, but I'm sure it contains more backbone and edge than this jellified mess which should be filed under the murder lite (suitable for minors) section of film.

"I was 14 years old when I was murdered on December 6, 1973," says Susie Salmon near the start. Like Sunset Boulevard the film is narrated from the point of view of a murder victim, but the tender years of the dead girl makes this a much more sentimental work as we see the devastating effect on her family and also – imaginatively – the magical hinterland between heaven and hell which Susie occupies until her soul can rest.

This "blue horizon" as her ghost calls it allows Jackson to revel in his love of special effects. and some of his flights of fancy – a sea full of giant ships in bottles, a halcyon cornfield – are impressive. But too often these moments are so embellished by heavy orchestration, lush cinematography and a saccharine voiceover that we are bludgeoned into submission rather than allowing any feelings of wonder to arise naturally. It also has a prolonged, ridiculously over-the-top ending in which you will need a heart of stone not to laugh.

What is salvaged are some good performances, with Saoirse Ronan as the young girl suitably endearing without being annoying. Playing against his typical type, Stanley Tucci is chilling through the very fact of his ordinariness as murderer George Harvey, while Mark Wahlberg and Rachel Weisz are believable and affecting as Susie's parents, haunted by her loss. It's just a shame Jackson couldn't mirror the truth of their portrayals in his direction and writing.

Now Showing...

A Single Man (12A)

Revelatory performance from Colin Firth and direction from fashion designer Tom Ford in this adaptation of the Christopher Isherwood novel. A middle-aged, gay academic decides to kill himself on one crisp, 1960s November day.

Astro Boy (PG)

Manga is brought to cinematic life, rather like the turbo-charged titular hero who is rebuilt from the DNA of genius child Toby. Lacking the innovation of the great animations, and hampered by some clunking moralising, it's still enjoyable half-term fare.

Precious: Based on the Novel "Push" by Sapphire (15)

Extraordinary slice of life picked snarling and scrapping from the streets of Harlem circa 1987. Obese Claireece "Precious" Jones endures all manners of humiliations and abuse before she finds acceptance in an alternative school.

Sex & Drugs & Rock & Roll (15)

The life and rhymes of rock's most passionate polio poet is colourfully recorded in this dynamic homage featuring a pulsating performance from Andy Serkis as the main man, Ian Dury.

Feast of cabaret is set for Lauderdale

A SISTER Act of the Beautiful and Damned will be performing A Little Night Music with The Woman in Black you should Never Forget.

At a recent photo shoot to promote the latest Cabaret in the House season at Lauderdale House, five stars of the stage assembled, boasting some of the best credits in theatreland between them.

First up this Sunday is Ako Mitchell, currently appearing as Eddie in the hit musical Sister Act, having previously appeared as Mufasa in The Lion King.

He's followed next Sunday by the bubbly Nancy Sullivan, who has appeared in the Take That musical Never Forget and The Wizard of Oz but is currently dreaming the dream as Eponine in Les Miserables.

Jessie Buckley, recently seen in the West End in A Little Night Music, appears later in the season on March 21, while Nicola Sloane (March 28) also appeared in A Little Night Music as well as The Sound of Music and The Woman in Black.

Once again Valerie Cutko, the star of virtually every other musical

Cabaret crew: Nicola Sloane, Nancy Sullivan, Jessie Buckley, Ako Mitchell and Valerie Cutko are performing at Lauderdale House

– My Fair Lady, Cabaret, Beautiful and Damned et al – takes a firm grip on proceedings as the host for your afternoon's entertainment.

A top Chinese that'll have you licking your fingers...

The Gannets

Red Bamboo, 869 Green Lanes, Winchmore Hill 020 8360 9125

GREEDY Gannet is something of a connoisseur when it comes to Oriental food, having worked in a Chinese takeaway before officially becoming a gannet, so where better to head to test out the old taste-buds than Red Bamboo in Winchmore Hill?

The relaxed and welcoming atmosphere is apparent as soon as you walk into the restaurant and makes it feel like the kind of place you'd feel comfy going on a first date, or to meet with mates. The background music is pleasant, the décor beautiful, and on the tables there is a choice of cutlery or, for the more adventurous, chopsticks.

Our attentive and pleasant hostess told us the Red Bamboo's aim is to serve immediately from the wok, supplying the guests with hot and fresh food. With that in mind, we got stuck straight in with starters. Greedy Gannet judges every Chinese restaurant primarily by the standard of the spare ribs. The dry bbq spare ribs we had (4.80) were meaty, tasty and reduced our gannet to a quivering mass resembling the kind of film scene involving Meg Ryan. We also enjoyed a portion of Pattaya chicken wings (£4.20) which had a crispy coating and were cooked with peppers and chillies in a sweet sauce. It was declared to be, "finger licking good!"

For the mains, our hostess recommended chicken in Malaysian sambal sauce (£5.90), stir-fried in shrimp paste and highly spiced with chillies – an exceedingly unusual but heavenly experience.

We also ordered beef in black bean sauce (£6.20) accompanied with some egg fried rice and a mountain of fried noodles and beansprouts (£3.80) big enough to rival K2. We felt that, even though the beef in black bean sauce was the most melt-in-the-mouth beef we had ever tasted at a Chinese restaurant, it was a little too salty for our pallets. This didn't stop us from hoovering it all up, however...

Greedy Gannet was asked whether Red Bamboo made her top ten favourite Chinese restaurants. Grinning and licking her fingers she said, "It's straight in at number one!"

● Opening hours: Mondays, 6pm to 11pm; Tuesdays to Thursdays, noon to 2.30pm and 6pm to 11pm; Fridays and Saturdays, noon to 2.30pm and 6pm to 11.30pm; Sundays, noon to 11pm.

DANGEROUS LETS

DIY landlords leave themselves exposed

Ellis and Co warns that landlords are not always aware of the legislation and requirements of having tenants in their properties, which may leave them exposed to losing thousands of pounds.

The boom in buy-to-let has meant a big increase in the number of amateur landlords. However, many of them will not be aware of the regulations, including, complying with safety regulations (smoke detectors, electrical equipment, fire and furnishings) and documentation e.g. Assure Shorthold Tenancies, Section 21 Notices, building insurance and Rent Protection Policies. The new Tenancy Deposit Scheme can also cause problems. The legislation, which came into effect in April 2007, helps to guard tenant's deposits and provides a dispute service.

Richard Oughton, owner of Ellis and Co in Enfield, said, "Buy-to-let is still an incredibly popular form of investment but people do not always realise what being a DIY landlord means. It is not just about painting the walls and buying cheap furniture, there are numerous safety requirements and legislative requirements that they need to be aware of.

"People think they will save money by not employing a lettings agency and doing it all themselves but the truth is that buying the property is the easy part. Actually being a landlord is a potential minefield and instead of the comfortable nest-egg that many people think it is, their property could actually cost them a fortune."

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. Classified Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

- (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
- (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
- (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category

All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

See what our customers say about us...

Hi Sarah,
Since your papers have such a great penetration into the market, we have had an immense response to the adverts placed.

It would be enough for us to just keep it in for one week - please do not continue the advert over to a second week!

We will surely be using your medium for future advertisements for promoting our moving services as well as other recruitment adverts.

Best regards,

HUD HORROR

Firing blanks: Huddlestone saw his tame penalty saved as Redknapp was left to rue more spot kick misery

Boss Redknapp left 'disturbed' as Huddlestone becomes the latest Spurs star to miss from the spot

By Lee Husson

TOTTENHAM manager Harry Redknapp says he needs to find someone who can 'handle the pressure' of taking penalties after Tom Huddlestone became the latest player to squander from the spot as Spurs were forced to settle for an FA Cup replay with Bolton.

Saturday's clash at the Reebok saw Huddlestone handed the responsibility of sending the visitors into the quarter-finals after Sam Ricketts had handled the ball inside the penalty area, with Jermain Defoe stripped of penalty duty following his miss against Leeds in the previous round – a sixth failure from his last ten spot kicks.

But Huddlestone's effort was weak and Jussi Jaaskelainen saved to keep the scores at 1-1 and set up a rematch, much to the frustration of the boss, who has now seen his side convert only one of their last five penalties.

"I need to find someone who can handle the pressure of putting it away from the spot," he said.

"If we'd scored I think it would have been game over, but we have a habit of missing penalties at the moment and it's becoming a bit disturbing."

Redknapp added he believed Tottenham deserved to take their place in the quarter-finals after battling back from a goal down after a lively first half performance by the hosts.

Kevin Davies handed Bolton a first-half lead, finishing off a fine passing move, before Defoe levelled the scores after half-time with a clinical strike.

"Bolton were terrific in the first half and we didn't get out of the blocks," he admitted.

"They were up and at us and we couldn't cope with it. They were knocking balls forward, winning them and backing up the play."

"We didn't get the chance to play how we like to play – they didn't allow us to."

"At half-time we sorted a few things out and we were much, much the better team in the second half, and deserved to win the game."

Spurs travel to Wigan on Sunday (4.15pm).

'Boro ease drop fears with another win

Haringey Borough 4 Colney Heath 1

Molten Spartan Premier Division

HARINGEY BOROUGH enjoyed their biggest win of the season on Saturday as they crushed Colney Heath to move six points clear of the Spartan Premier Division's relegation zone.

In-form Lloyd Opara was Borough's hero, scoring a hat-trick as they came from behind in a game which was switched to Colney Heath's Recreation Ground due to the continuing problems with the playing surface at Coles Park.

The afternoon did not get off to a good start for Borough as a misunderstanding between keeper Brian Sealey and central defender Bosun Adebaki gifted Heath's John Donoghue the opening goal with only 11 minutes on the clock.

But Opara crucially equalised from the spot just before the interval, and Borough went on to completely dominate the second period.

Adam Scotcher, who had been brought down for the penalty, latched on to Opara's pass to fire Borough into the lead on 50 minutes and the game turned further in their favour when Heath's commanding central defender Matt Corbould was sent-off after collecting his second yellow card.

Taking full advantage of the extra man, Opara extended Borough's advantage following a goalmouth scramble on 73 minutes and, after several near misses, the striker managed to complete his hat-trick with a clinical finish in stoppage time.

Skolars take another pounding

JAMES MASSARA'S difficult start to his reign as head coach of the London Skolars continued on Sunday as they were crushed 68-0 at home by Halifax in rugby league's Northern Rail Cup.

The Skolars had already suffered comprehensive defeats in their previous two matches in the competition, but they fared even worse on this occasion as they failed to score a single point.

Despite conceding two early tries, the hosts managed to hold their own for much of the first half and only trailed 8-0 after 35 minutes.

But their hopes were effectively ended by a three-try burst in the final five minutes of the half – with Said Tamghart, Anthony Bowman and Bob Beswick all crossing the line to leave Halifax 24-0 ahead at the interval.

This sudden onslaught seemed to break the Skolars' resistance as the visitors were utterly dominant in a second half which saw them score another 44 points.

Rob Worrincey led the way by adding a second-half hat-trick to his 13th-minute score, while Beswick completed the 13-try rout by touching down in the last minute.

The London Skolars round off their Northern Rail Cup campaign with a trip to the York City Knights on Sunday (3pm).
